A Guide to Getting Decisions for Christ

Reprinted from Practical Guide to Personal Ministries

How can we become more successful in leading men and women to make a favorable decision for Christ and His Church?

Here are some principles to keep in mind:

- 1 Ask for a decision on the key points presented in the summary of each Bible study. It is unrealistic to expect a favorable decision at the conclusion of the studies if you have not obtained progressive decisions at each step along the way.
- 2 Encourage your student to put into practice each new principle as it unfolds. Light that is not followed turns into darkness.
- 3 Do not ask for a major decision until your prospective member has sufficient information to enable him or her to make an intelligent decision.
- 4 Watch for evidence of conviction so you will know that there is a readiness to be asked to make a decision. Signals include questions such as, "What if I can't get Saturdays off?" or, "What if my husband won't let me tithe?" Clues like these indicate that the person has been contemplating a decision and is already considering the consequences of that decision.
- 5 Ask for a decision on the basis of a choice between two alternatives. For example, "We are planning a baptism on the 15th and one on the 29th. Which would be better for you?"
- 6 Always expect a favorable decision.
- 7 Determine the specific barriers to decision, and then work to remove those barriers.
- 8 Don't be afraid to ask for decisions. If a person is never asked, they do not have the opportunity to say, "Yes." In fact, some conclude they are not wanted because they are not asked when they are ready.

The Narrow Gate

Kindness is a lost commodity in our culture. The drive for success, for significance, and survival leaves compassion floundering by the wayside. Members get inflamed at one another in "hot talk" over politics, pop culture, and church issues and the message of the gospel is neutralized. Defending truth without showing love weakens our mission. The Narrow Gate reveals a countercultural path in a world of selfishness. This book shows the power of a courteous life and guides Adventists to authentically demonstrate compassion within the church and in the community.

As you lead your congregation in full inclusion for all of God's family, may these words from Ellen White guide you in your ministry:

"I saw that it is in the providence of God that widows and orphans, the blind, the deaf... and persons disabled in a variety of ways, have been placed in close Christian relation to His church; it is to prove His people and develop their true character. Angels of God are watching to see how we treat these persons who need our compassion, love, and disinterested benevolence. This is God's test of our character. If we have the true religion of the Bible, we shall feel that debt of love, kindness, and interest is due to Christ in behalf of His brethren; and we can do no less than to show our gratitude for His immeasurable love to us while we were sinners unworthy of His grace, by having a deep interest and unselfish love for others."
