Share and Care

Tomorrow night is the beginning of something big in your church and community! You've been planning all year to culminate your evangelistic outreach with the NET 2011 series, Prophecies Decoded: Can the Past Reveal Your Future? You're not alone with the jitters and it is not unusual to be a little frightened by the unknown. What will opening night be like? Will People come? Will members support it?

Take a deep breath, relax and see what the Lord will do. If we've done our best, have prepared well and have asked the Holy Spirit to be in our midst, God will pour out a blessing. We can't control all circumstances so let God work it out as we commit to working with Him to reach the lost.

Russell Burrill was very excited today as we talked. He said that Nashville is all ready for the series and they expect a great time together. They have done an extensive advertising campaign in the Nashville area. They bought billboard signs and flew a blimp over the main highways and corridors of the city announcing the website and drawing attention to the meetings. They too are wondering if it will attract many guests on opening night. How exciting it is to do the Lord's work!

Madison members prepare blimp to fly over Nashville.

Net 2011 Website activity has been amazing!

Many questions and comments have been answered by the customer service team at AIM on the campus of Andrews University. It is exciting to know that a large number of the questions come from people who know very little about the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

"I am on the path to finding my way as a recovering Christian. My family and I just moved here from Ft Carson, Colorado, and are looking for a home. We received this flyer in the mail and I would like to know more about this."

Another asked, "Is this just another preaching service or can I ask questions?" Pastor Clouzet says it is a teaching format. People can send questions via email and get answers during the meetings.
