Andrews Study Bible Named Official Bible of the Prophecies Decoded NET 2011 Evangelistic Series

A new Outreach Edition of the landmark Andrews Study Bible has been selected as the official Bible for the Prophecies Decoded NET 2011 series. The study Bible will be distributed in large quantities by hundreds of Adventist churches around North America hosting the satellite broadcast evangelistic meetings. The Andrews Study Bible was published by Andrews University Press in June 2010.

“Every evangelistic series of this type needs a good Bible to recommend and share with people who want to know more about the truth of God’s word. The Andrews Study Bible is the most important print resource Adventists have ever had to support a series of evangelistic meetings. The outstanding study helps in this Bible, in the notes at the bottom of each page, highlight the great themes of the Bible—the very themes that we’ll be discussing in the meetings,” commented, Ron Clouzet, speaker for NET 2011.

More than 600 churches have already registered as downlink sites for the Prophecy Decoded NET 2011 Series, according to Russell Burrill, manager of the series and former director of NADEI. “We’re excited to see so many churches signing on.”

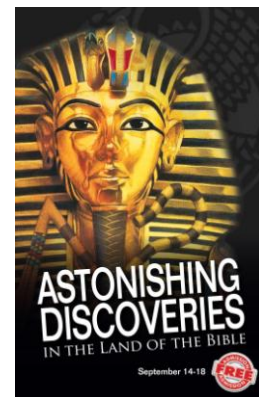

Churches can order the number of these special Bibles they need from NADEI as part of the larger complete set of materials they will use to enhance their participation in the meetings.

We have a message! How will we share it?

The Seventh-day Adventist church was called by God to deliver a special message for these end times. It is a message of hope and wholeness in Christ.

A message of hope: Our church has been charged to reach North America and the world with a distinctive message. It is a message illustrated by sanctuary truths, modeled by the life of Christ, and communicated by the prophets throughout the ages and succinctly expressed in the Three Angels' Messages of Revelation 14:6-12. This special message points prophetically to Christ's second coming—a concept that is embroidered in our very name, Seventh-day Adventists.

A message of wholeness: Our distinctive message not only points toward the future—it adds more abundant life to the present! Health of body, mind and spirit invariably lifts humanity up to higher planes of living. Over three hundred scientific studies have confirmed the benefits of our Adventist message of health—a key doctrine embraced by the Church early in its history. Coupled with the assets of physical health is the assurance of God's saving grace and protecting care.
